Mother Vennila: Dear Samudra, keep yourself right and don't go to the centre of road. As we go deep into the market the crowd will increase. Don't run away.

Samudra: Okay Ma, What sound is that? Is that a bell?

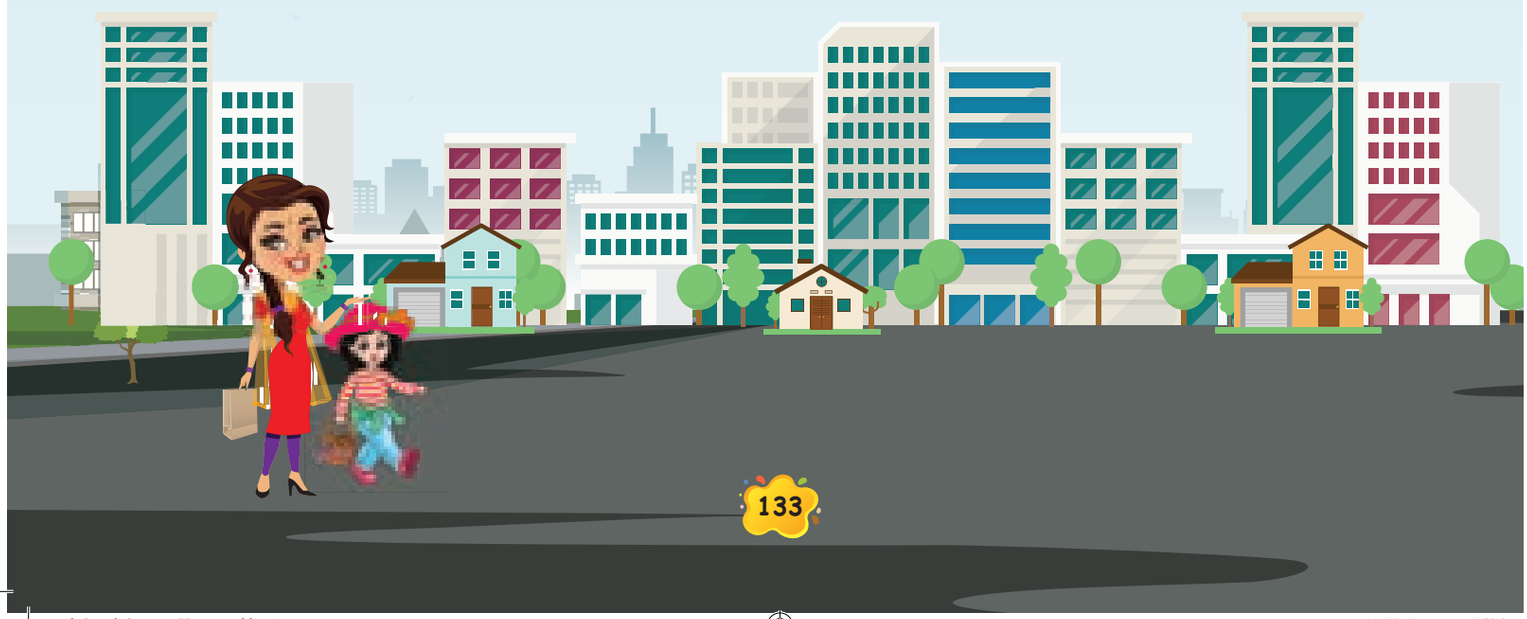

Mother: It's the sound of a fire engine. I think a fire accident has occurred somewhere.

Samudra: Is it? Oh my God!

Mother: The bell is a warning to the people on the road. So that they can give way to the fire engine.

Samudra: Why should one give way to it?

Mother: It's an emergency. It has to go fast and reach the spot to save people and their properties.
