Son: It has been there for a very long time then.

Father: Yes! In May 2013, Childline in Ahmedabad rescued around 16 children who were working in various parts of the city. Child Labour is an offence in India.

Daughter: Oh! Is it?

Father: Childline helps children who

- are work as labourers.
- are abandoned by their parents.
- are differently abled.
- are live in streets.

Son: How do they exactly know where and how children need help?

Integrated Child Development Services (ICDS) is a centrally sponsored scheme of government of India for early childhood care and development.
